Comments:

Both parties acknowledge that the original award expired on 2/28/2004 due to an inadvertent oversight by both parties. Typically, once an award performance period has lapsed, it is not permissible to issue amendments.

The signature of both parties on this bi-lateral agreement acknowledges that both parties have agreed to continue the scope of work as identified in the original agreement. Both parties further agree to extend the award performance period to December 31, 2004, even though the original award had inadvertently expired. Both parties also acknowledge that there is no lapse in the award performance period from the time the initial award expired. The award performance period will be March 1, 2000 through December 31, 2004 for the purposes of determining allowable costs.

The terms set forth in this bi-lateral agreement will become effective upon signature of these documents by both parties.
