Project Narrative

Juneau Youth Services Youth Residential Facility Planning Grant

Project Description

Purpose: In response to the “Bring the Kids Home” initiative and the state-sponsored initiatives to further integrate the behavioral health service delivery system, Juneau Youth Services (JYS) and the SouthEast Alaska Regional Health Consortium (SEARHC) are developing partnership activities prior to the opening of the new Youth Residential Treatment Facility at Montana Creek. Funds requested in this grant are to address the numerous and complex legal, technical and planning activities associated with this innovative partnership arrangement. Juneau Youth Services will be the recipient of this grant.

Legal Costs- To our knowledge, no other tribal health entity has previously attempted to engage in the delivery of behavioral health services in this type of a joint venture business arrangement with another behavioral health non-profit entity. Funds from this grant will go towards legal expenses associated with:

- 1) Reviewing the legal background and options for structuring the joint partnership arrangement for the Juneau residential treatment facility in a manner that complies with federal law applicable to health care services,
- 2) Evaluating and developing business/structural documents to address legal liability issues including negligence, questioned Medicaid or insurance claims, tort coverage vs. professional liability, property liability and accidents that may occur on the facility, and
- 3) Legal services associated with the development and production of contractual agreements necessary for JYS and SEARHC to structure the proposed joint service delivery model. Deliverables include a final contractual agreement regarding service delivery partnership and supporting analysis report in a format appropriate for public review.

Legal Costs are estimated at $50,000, half from JYS and half from a subgrant with SEARHC.

Program Development Costs- Activities associated with a complex and broad array of program development issues must be addressed prior to the opening of the facility. These include:

- 1) The development of policy and procedures manuals for program operations,
- 2) Development of program standards that meet or exceed accreditation standards,

- 3) Detailed billing policies and procedures that meet the needs of both agencies,
- 4) Written policy and procedures regarding quality assurance practices and oversight of clinical records for both agencies,
- 5) Finalization of program model inclusive of cultural components, provision of medical and psychiatric services, and special services to the dually-diagnosed and FAS/FASD clients
- 6) Various business practices associated with continuing care agreements, interagency reimbursement mechanisms and processes, and
- 7) Program oversight of all of these activities including working with various state and federal officials.

Deliverables include completed agency manuals and documents noted above, interagency agreements on business practice issues noted above, finalization of a program model and the ability to open an accredited program once the facility has been completed. Estimated costs for Program Development are $60,500, $32,000 from JYS and $28,500 from a subgrant with SEARHC.

Travel - Professional staff working on this project live in two different communities: Sitka and Juneau. In order to pay for travel costs for staff to work together on this project, and to visit other residential treatment programs, we anticipate travel costs to be approximately $12,000: $3,000 from JYS and $9,000 from a subgrant with SEARHC.

Licenses & Fees- Accrediting agency membership and on-line access to reference materials is an important requirement of the development activity in order that the resulting developed policy, procedures, and practices meet accrediting agency standards. These fees are estimated to total $2,500, all from JYS.
